Ile thus your hopes destroy, and for further griefe,
God giue you ioy; what, are you both pleased?
Thai. Yes, if you loue me sir.
Per. Euen as my life, or blood that fosters it.
King. What, are you both agreed?
Amb. Yes, if it please your Maiesty.
King. It pleaseth me so well, that I will see you wed,
And then with what haste you can, get you to bed.

Enter Gower.

Now sleepe slaked hath the rout,
No din but snores about the house,
Made lowder by the ore-fe beast,
Of this most pompous marriage feast:
The Cat with eyne of burning coale,
Now coutches from the Mouses hole;
And Cricket sing at the Ouens mouth,
Are the blither for their drouth:
Hymen hath brought the Bride to bed,
Where by the losse of mayden-head,
A babe is moulded, by attent,
And time that is so briefly spent,
With your fine fancies quaintly each,
What's dumbe in shew, Ile plaine with speech.

Enter Pericles and Simonides at one doore with attendants, a messenger meetes them, kneeles, and giues Pericles a letter, Pericles shewes it Symonides, the Lords kneele to him; then enter Thaysa with childe, with Lychorida a Nurse, the King shewes her the Letter, she reioyces: she and Pericles take leaue of her father, and depart.

By many a dearne and painfull pearch
Of Pericles, the carefull search,
By the foure opposing Crignes,
Which the world together ioynes,
Is made with all due diligence,
That horse and saile, and high expence,
Can steed the quest at last from Tyre,

Fame

Fame answering the most strange enquire,
To'th Court of King Symonides,
Are letters brought, the tenour these:
Antiochus and his daughter's dead,
The men of Tyrus, on the head
Of Hellicanus would set on
The crowne of Tyre, but he will none:
The mutany, he there hastes t'oppresse,
Sayes to them, if King Pericles
Come not home in twice six Moones,
He obedient to their doomes,
Will take the Crowne: the sum of this Brought hither to Penlapolis,
Irony shed the Regions round,
And euery one with claps can sound,
Our heyre apparant is a King:
Who dreampt? who thought of such a thing?
Briefe, he must hence depart to Tyre,
His Queene with childe, makes her desire,
VVhich who shall crosse along to goe,
Omit we all their dole and woe:
Lychorida her Nurse she takes,
And so to sea; then vessell shakes,
On Neptunes billow, halfe the flood,
Hath their Keele cut: but fortune moou'd
Varies againe, the grisled North
Disgorges such a tempest forth,
That as a Ducke for life that driues,
So vp and downe the poore ship diues:
The Lady shreekes, and well-a-neere,
Doth fall in trauaile with her feare:
And what ensues in this selfe storme,
Shall for it selfe, it selfe performe:
I nill relate, action may
Conueniently the rest conuay;
VVhich might not? what by me is told,
In your imagination hold:
